

An opportunistic fixed income strategy, designed to provide low correlation to core fixed income, offering current yield, low interest rate sensitivity and limited downside volatility.

FUND OVERVIEW

- The Semper Total Return Fund is a UCITS which seeks to provide a high level of risk-adjusted current income and capital appreciation
- The Fund is invested in fixed income securities similar to Semper Capital Management's existing U.S. domiciled MBS Total Return Strategy
- Investments are concentrated in U.S. Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) including Non-Agency and Agency MBS and related structured credit sectors including Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (CMBS) and Asset-Backed Securities (ABS)

FUND PERFORMANCE & RECAP

- The U.S. Dollar SEMTIUU share class returned +0.89% in February, as Non-Agency RMBS remained strong even as Treasury and Agency MBS markets reversed course and fell. The 2-year Treasury yield jumped 62 bps and the 10-year yield rose 42 bps. The markets were surprised by continued resilience of domestic employment, leading to speculation that the Fed would need to raise rates further and for longer to battle inflation. The Bloomberg U.S. MBS Index returned -2.64%. For the trailing 3 months, the fund has returned about +4%, nearly 350 bps over the Index return
- The fund's performance benefited from positive price performance and increasingly high coupons across the nearly 60% allocation to Agency CRT, Mortgage Insurance, and CMBS positions, all of which are floating rate. The fund's fixed rate sectors including RPL securitizations, Non-QM, and NPL securitizations all demonstrated additional spread compression from still high levels, but declined in price from the impact of duration
- The fund generated about 57 bps of interest income, and the March 1 dividend distribution for the distributing share classes was well over 7% annualized, continuing last year's trend higher
- Fixed income mutual fund flows remained positive fueling buy-side demand, while new issue securitizations remained at a very low pace with mortgage originations mired at low levels from high interest rates and high home prices

OUTLOOK

- The overall fixed income market has experienced increased uncertainty and rising rates into early March. As volatility ticks up somewhat and Fed tightening assumptions are revamped higher, this will likely have some near-term negative impact on the technical strength we've seen in RMBS since late 2022. However, The high current yield of the sector will increasingly blunt the impact of any technical spread widening or duration impacts, leading to shorter break-evens. The 9.62% yield-to-maturity and nearly 10 point average discount of the fund's bond holdings are expected to provide strong support to fund performance in conjunction with still strong fundamental credit support and favorable RMBS sector supply/demand technicals
- Given the still unfolding economic and rates outlook for 2023, we believe it remains prudent to focus on seniority and liquidity, while maintaining a high allocation to floating rate and low duration securities - with significant seasoning
